COME ENOUGH.

But None Less Terrible.

All forms of headache are of a nervous character, and are caused by a weakness, irritation or disease of nerves of the head.
A headache should never be neglected, as it may lead to serious nervous troubles. To cure such cases it is absolutely necessary to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

Many persons who suffer from headache, have, by repeated failures to find relief, despaired of cure. To such we would say, by all means secure a bottle of this wonderful remedy, and watch its marvelous effects. It is the most perfect cure known for headache. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists, $1.00.
"I had sick headache for 14 years, and suffered untold agony and despaired of ever getting cured, having tried many physicians and many different remedies without any benefit. But I am now entirely cured after taking 3 bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy." Carrie E. Russell, Carteret, N. J.

"For over twenty years my life was made miserable by frequent and terrible headaches. At times they were so severe I feared I would go insane. No one could suffer worse than I did. I bought Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and the very first bottle stopped the headache, and I never had any trouble with my head since that time. After suffering for twenty years I was cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Mrs. Mary Green, Basin St., Norristown, Pa."

Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 14 Temple Pl., Boston, Mass., can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Call or write him about your case or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free.

Edwards came upon him while he was holding the rope and placing a pistol at his head told Briggs to get ready to die. The latter protested that if he let go of the rope it would kill the three below by dashing them to the bottom and asked for time. Edwards allowed this, all the while keeping the revolver at Briggs' head. When the men in the shaft safely reached the bottom Briggs suddenly grabbed him from behind and striking Edwards on the head fractured his skull and he will surely die. Briggs has not been arrested. There was an old grudge between the men.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Sept. 5. There has scarcely been a day within the past three months that this city has not been severely shaken by earthquakes, and the people are becoming greatly alarmed. The Columbus Monument.

On October 12 the Columbus monument will be unveiled on the plaza at the 50th street entrance to Central Park. The work of art is the gift of the Italians of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central America to the people of this country. It is the work of Prof. Gaetano Russo, of Rome, and has just been received in New York. The monument when in place will be seventy-five feet high. The base, of Bayona Granite, has two beautiful bas-relief pictures in bronze, representing on one side the monument when Columbus first saw land, and on the other the actual landing of the party on the soil. Two inscriptions higher up on the monument, one in English and one Italian, contain the dedication. The column is also of Bayona granite, while the figure of the Genius of Geography, and the statue proper of Columbus, are of white Carrara marble, the former being ten feet high and the latter fourteen. There is also a bronze eagle, six feet high, on the side opposite the figure of the Genius of Geography, holding in its claws the shields of the United States and Genoa. The rostra and the inscription on the column are in bronze.

The annual State convention of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in Augusta the first week in October. State Secretary, Shelton, with the State Executive Committee, is giving much attention to the preparation of the programme. Correspondence is being carried on with a number of prominent men with a view of getting them to attend. Rev. E. L. Whitman, the new president of Colby, is expected to be present.

What a considered a very good joke has leaked out concerning a fat, jolly fellow who drives an accommodation team in Augusta. This driver makes it a point to be out at the night train and thus picks up a good deal of traffic at odd times. One night last week in the midst of the storm when it rained cats and dogs and the wind howled lugubriously round the corners of the railroad station a thin, faded, slight man alighted from the train and waited to go to the Augusta House. There was no hack at that late hour and the traveller engaged the accommodation carriage to take him to his destination. On reaching the top of Rines hill the driver turned up Green street, as Grove street, the direct road to the Augusta House, was unfit for travel. The passenger had evidently been to the Augusta House before, for when the team drove into the impenetrable darkness caused by the dense shade trees on Green and State streets he called to the jocular Jehu "Where are you taking me? I want to go to the Augusta House." The driver's reply was an intimation on the one made by the stage driver to Mr. Greeley "Keep your seat, Horace." A minute had not elapsed when a slight stir behind him caused the driver to turn and peer into the seat. "It was vacant! The sound of running footsteps was heard on State street. The passenger, thinking the driver had taken him into that dark street for the purpose of robbing him had ignominiously taken to his heels without stopping to pay his fare.

The manual training school that has been in session in Belfast for nearly two months closed Friday. In the evening there was an exhibition of the scholars' work in Pierce's parlor theatre. The school was composed of about forty small boys who were trained in the use of wood working tools. Picture frames, brackets, carving, etc., they were taught to make. Some of them have shown a wonderful proficiency in the work. This is the first time such a school has been taught there and it has proved very successful.

All Eastport was aroused at three o'clock one morning last week, by the deafening and persistent screeching of the factory whistle used in case of fires. After hunting in vain for the cause of the excitement the crowd proceeded to investigate and found the cause to be an innocent, belated boatman who had been invited by the watchman to come into the engine room to warm himself and who during the temporary absence of the guard of the place had got hold of the whistle pull, the value of which stuck so that neither of the men was able to stop the racket.

Notice is given by the lighthouse board that September 30 the characteristic of the steam whistle at Lighthouse Island will be changed to sound after that date blasts of four seconds duration, separated by alternate silent intervals of four and eight seconds. OFF FOR THE FAIR

Large Numbers of People Go To Lewiston

A large number left Bangor yesterday on the afternoon trains for Lewiston to attend the Maine State Fair, and a special train brought a large crowd from Aroostook county. This train arrived soon after 2 o'clock and left at 2.30. Many more will leave here or go through the city bound for Lewiston this week during the fair.

The fair opens to-day and everybody hopes for fair weather. With that necessary the fair will be a success. It will last four days. The activity and bustle about the grounds during the past week indicated that there would be the usual large displays.

The entries in all departments indicate an exhibition of unusual interest. The cattle list comprises upward of 800 head, of which more than 200 are Maine State and Cattle Club Jerseys. The entries of Holsteins, Herefords and other cattle are also numerous. The list of entries for the races indicates that the trotting will be of unusual interest.

One feature of the fair which will be greatly improved over the last two years will be the down-town exhibition in the City Hall.

For the last two years, or since the opening of the City Hall, this exhibition has been held in the old skating rink, a totally unfit place for it, and for this reason many who have been accustomed to exhibit have stayed away. This year, however, the new City Hall is completed and will form a better exhibition hall even than the old one was. As a result many of the old exhibitors will return this year together with other new ones.

Among the former will be the Sanford plush mills, whose beautiful plush goods were the beauty of the exhibitions several years ago, but who have not exhibited for several years.

The local mills and merchants will make their usual displays and there will be the usual exhibits of fancy needle and art work.

The banquet hall in the rear will be occupied as an art gallery, where the artists of Maine will display their handwork. Among the paintings to be exhibited will be a life-size portrait of the celebrated stallion Nelson, also a portrait of Gemare, the French coach horse, owned by James S. Sanford, of Boston, by Scott Leighton, the Boston artist.

There will be other attractions in Lewiston next week to entertain visitors in the city besides the fair. There will be every forenoon and afternoon a New England league base ball game between the Auburn Gazette and the other teams of the league, all of which appear during the week.

The President Accepts Republican Nomination.

A Masterly Review of the Issues of the Campaign.

Condition of Great Prosperity Under Republican Policy.

The Protective Tariff and Reciprocity of Immense Benefit.

Democratic Policy One of Destruction to All Industries.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. Following is a condensation of President Harrison's letter of acceptance of the Republican nomination for the office of President of the United States:

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5, 1892.
Hon. Wm. McKinley, Jr., and others,
committee, etc.,
Gentlemen:

I now avail myself of the first period of relief from public duties to respond to the notification you brought me June 30th, of my nomination for the office of President of the United States by the Republican National Convention recently held at Minneapolis.

I accept the nomination and am grateful for the approval expressed by the convention of the sons of the administration.

I have endeavored without wavering or weakness, so far as the direction of public affairs was committed to me, to carry out the pledges made to the people in 1888. If the policies of the administration have not been distinctively and progressively American and Republican policies, the fault has not been in the purpose, but in the execution.

A vote of want of confidence has been asked by our adversaries, and this challenge to a review of what has been done, we promptly and gladly accept.

Great Work of the 51st Congress.

The great work of the Fifty-first Congress has been subjected to the revision of the Democratic House of Representatives and the acts of the Executive Department to its scrutiny and investigations. The Democratic national administration was succeeded by a Republican administration and the freshness of events gives unusual facilities for a comparison and judgment. There has seldom been a time, I think, when the change from the declared policies of the Democratic party involved such serious results to the business interests of the country.

The National Currency.

A brief review of what has been done and of what the Democratic party proposes to undo, will justify this opinion. The Republican party during the civil war revised the national currency, consisting of United States notes, issued and redeemable by the government, and of national bank notes, based upon the security of the United States bonds. A tax was levied upon the issues of State banks and the intended result that all such issues should be withdrawn, was realized.

Our money in all national money, I might almost say international, for these bills are not only equally and indiscriminately accepted at par in all States, but in some foreign countries.

The Democratic party, if entrusted with the control of the government, is now pledged to repeal the tax on State bank issues, with the view of putting into circulation again under such diverse legislation as the States may adopt, a flood of local bank issues. Only those who in years before the war experienced the inconvenience and losses attendant upon the use of such money, can appreciate what a return to that system involves.

American Carrying Trade.

Few subjects have elicited more discussion or excited more general interest than the recovery by the United States of its appropriate share of the American carrying trade. This subject touches not only our pockets but our national pride. The great steamship lines of Europe were built up and are now in part sustained by direct or indirect government aid, the latter taking the form of the liberal payment for carrying the mails, or an annual bonus given in consideration of agreements to construct ships to adapt them for carrying armament and turn them over to the government on demand upon specified terms.

It is plain to every intelligent American that if the United States would have such lines, a similar policy must be entered upon.

The 51st Congress enacted such a law, and under its beneficent influence sixteen American steamships of an aggregate tonnage of 57,400 tons, costing $7,400,000 were built in American shipyards. In addition to this it is now practically certain that we shall soon have one of the finest steamship lines sailing out of New York for any European port. This contract will result in the construction in American yards of four new passenger steamships of 10,000 tons each, costing about $3,000,000, and will add to our naval reserve six steamships—the fastest upon the sea.

In regard to the establishment of lines from our South Atlantic and Gulf ports, the Democratic party has found no place in its platform for any mention of this important subject, and has shown its hostility to the general policy by refusing to expend the appropriation made during the last administration for ocean mail contracts with American lines.

Reciprocity Arrangements.

The President made a lengthy statement in regard to the reciprocity policy. It is now in practical operation, he says, with five nations of Central and South America, San Domingo, Spanish and British West India islands, Germany and Austria are under special trade arrangements. He says: We have only begun to realize the benefit of these trade arrangements.

The work of creating new agencies and adapting our goods to new markets has necessarily taken time; but the results already attained are such, I am sure, as to establish in popular favor the policy of reciprocity of trade, based upon the free importation of such articles as do not injuriously compete with the products of our own farms, mines or factories, in exchange for the free or favored introduction of our products into other countries.

Repeal of Protection.

The declaration of the platform in favor of the "American doctrine of protection," meets my most hearty approval. The convention did not adopt a schedule, but the schedule that is to control all the tariff will be followed, if the Democratic party retains power, what should be the thought of a party that is thus capable of trifling with the great interests.

The President reviews the operations of the existing tariff law by means of data furnished by the Senate Committee appointed to make inquiry into the subject. He finds that the cost of various articles of necessity has decreased under the tariff and there has been an advance in wages, and advance in the price of farm products, and says it is plain that the tariff law has not imposed burdens, but has conferred benefits upon both the farmer and workman.

The Tin Plate Industry.

In regard to the tin plate industry the President says: In spite of the doubts raised by the elections of 1890 and of the machinations of foreign producers to maintain their monopoly, the tin plate industry has been established in the United States, and the alliance between the Welsh product and the Democratic party for its destruction will not succeed. Official returns to the Treasury Department of the production of tin andterne plates in the United States during the last fiscal year, show a total production of 13,340,833 pounds.

A comparison of the first quarter, 1892, 335,322 pounds, with the last 3,000,000 pounds, shows the rapid development of the industry. Over 5,000,000 pounds during the last quarter were made from American black plates, the remainder from imported plates. Mr. Ayer, Treasury agent in charge, estimates, as a result of careful inquiry, that the production of the current year will be 100,000,000 pounds and by the end of the year our production will be at the rate of 30,000,000 pounds per annum. This tariff law has given employment to many thousands of American men and women, and will each year give employment to increasing thousands. Any repeal would throw thousands out of employment, and give work to others only at reduced wages. The appeals of the free trader to the workman are largely addressed to his prejudices or to his passions, and are not infrequently pronouncedly communistic. The new Democratic leadership rages at employers and seeks to communicate this rage to the employed.

I regret that all employers of labor are not just and considerate and capital sometimes takes too large a share of the profits. But I do not see that these evils will be ameliorated by a free trade tariff policy, the first necessary effect of which is a severe wage cut and second a large diminution of the aggregate amount of work to be done in this country. If, the injustice of his employers tempts the workman to strike back he should be very sure that his blow

Does Not Fall Upon His Own Head or upon his wife and children. No intelligent advocate of a protective tariff claims it is able, of itself, to maintain a uniform rate of wages without regard to the fluctuations in the supply and demand for the products of labor. But it is confidently claimed that protective duties strongly tend to hold up wages, and are the only barrier against a reduction to the European scale.

One of the favorite arguments against a protective tariff is that it shuts us out from participation in what is called with swelling emphasis "The Markets of the World." If this view is not a false one how does it happen that our commercial competitors are able to bear with more serenity our supposed surrender to them of the "Markets of the World," and how does it happen that a partial loss of our markets does tin plate mills and plumb factories that still have all the other markets.

Our natural advantages, our protective tariff and reciprocity policy, make it possible for us to have a large participation in the "markets of the world," without opening our own to competition that would destroy the comfort and independence of our people.

The Silver Question.

The resolution of the convention in favor of bimetallism, declares, I think, the true and necessary conditions of a movement that has upon these lines, my cordial adherence and support.

I am thoroughly convinced that the free coinage of silver, at such a ratio to gold as will maintain equality in their commercial uses of the two coined dollars, would conduce to the prosperity of all the great producing and commercial nations of the world. One essential condition is that these dollars shall have and retain equal acceptability and value in all commercial transactions, that they be not only the medium of exchange, but the medium of values. When two unequal measures are called in law by the same name commerce is confused and the Unequal and Inequitable Competition.

Dollars of unequal commercial value will not circulate together. The better dollar is withdrawn and becomes merchandise. The true interest of all our people, especially of farmers and working people, who cannot closely observe the money market, is that every dollar, paper or coin, issued or authorized by the government shall at all times and in all its uses be the exact equivalent, not only in debt paying but purchasing power, of any other dollar.

It is equally sure if we should now act upon this subject independently of other nations we would greatly promote their interests, and injure our own. The monetary conditions in Europe within the last two years have, I think, tended very much to develop a sentiment in favor of the larger use of silver. I am much pleased and encouraged by the cordial promises and unanimity with which the invitation of this government for an international conference upon the subject was accepted by all the powers. We may not only hope for but expect highly beneficial results from the conference, which will soon assess the Free Elections.

The President refers to the passage in his last annual message to Congress, in which he states his belief that it is possible to secure a calm and patriotic consideration of each constitutional or statutory change that may be necessary to secure the choice of officers of the government to the people by fair appointments and free elections.

In referring to this he says: It seems to me an appeal to our people to consider the object of our legislation upon these lately fair non-partisan lines might induce an effective response. Many times I have had occasion to say that laws and election methods designed to give unfair advantages to the party making them were a source of peril to the perpetuation of a faction or party against the will of the majority of the people.

Of this we seem to have an illustration in the recent State elections in Alabama. There was no Republican ticket in the field. The contest was between white Democrats. The Klu Klux party say they were refused the representation guaranteed by the law. The result was, that, when the contest, by a landslide, attempted to secure a wrong, last appeal very effect a pro-union of forces in the protection of the law. A success, even that of the majority, secured and the majority many that movement, are not to be abandoned, not gradually, not taken down but blown up.

Final pronouncement of destruction is asked of our country. A success, the result of the policy of the majority, secured and the majority many that movement, are not to be abandoned, not gradually, not taken down but blown up.

It will subject business to no serious change but offers attractive opportunities for expansion upon similar lines.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM HARRISON

"MONTE CRISTO" O'NEILL.

Makes a Hit in His New Drama.
Lewiston, Sept. 5. James O'Neill presented his new drama "Fontenelle" at Musie Hall this evening for the first time to a large audience. He has a strong com any, special scenery and magnificent costumes. The play is very realistic dealing with incidents of the reign of Louis XV and Pompadour and it made an instantaneous hit. Mr. O'Neill received many curtain calls and undoubtedly has in "Fontenelle" a second "Monte Cristo."

Officer Bowen, of the day force, was on duty at the Etna campmeeting Sunday. There was a crowd of people numbering about 8000, but it was a quiet and very orderly one. The campmeeting has been as usual a success and many have attended from surrounding towns. The Maine Central ran excursions which were well patronized.

The train which arrives in this city at 3.05 P. M. was three-quarters of an hour late yesterday on account of the heavy travel. Delays were caused by the necessary waits for crossing the Flying Yankee and the special from Aroostook. This train is nearly always prompt of time, but the extensive travel sometimes causes unavoidable delays. The evening train was very late.

Manager F. A. Owen of the Opera House, is in Augusta for a few days on business relating to the opening of the Augusta Opera House, which he will manage in connection with the Bangor theatre. The new Augusta theatre will be opened by the performance of "Mignon" by the Lillian Durell Opera Company, and there will be more excellent attractions later.

There is talk of an excursion from this city to Montreal, to occur in about three weeks and it is expected that it will be arranged, as quite a number desire to go. The other lectures will be given on the afternoons of the 8th, 13th and 15th at the same hour.

The American Ice Company is rapidly rebuilding its plant, which was destroyed by fire June 1st. The buildings are located on the same spot as the others were and the frame of a large portion of them is up and some of the boarding has been done. The new establishment will have many improvements over the former one, will have a large capacity and all modern appliances and conveniences. The work is progressing well.

The steamer Lewiston, of the Boston & Bangor Steamship Company's fleet, has made another quick trip to this city. She left Boston at 5.08 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and at 11 A. M. yesterday was whistling for Bangor. She had to wait a few moments for the steamer Penobscot, which was just leaving for Boston, to get away from the wharf, and came in to her pier at 11.10. This beats her record of last summer, when she reached here one day at 11.20 A. M. For two consecutive days one of the big boats has been coming in just as the other one was leaving.

TAKE WARNING!

NEGLECT NOT THE SIGNALS OF DANGER.

An Object Lesson Taught by the Indians.

Let the Way be Simple and the Remedy Safe.

If you are ailing, not exactly sick, but not feeling "just right," have a drowsy, dull feeling, bad taste in the mouth, variable appetite, occasional pains in the joints and muscles, and other signs of impending sickness, why not do as the Indians do—drive such symptoms out of the system by the judicious use of their vegetable remedy?

Don't neglect such warnings. That pain in your shoulder may develop into rheumatism, and a month's sickness deprive you of the income of your life.

That fiery tongue denotes your liver is out of order, and typhoid fever would easily take root in your system.

What could you do then? Think of your business, your income, and your family.

Seek safety as you would fly from cholera or smallpox. You are in danger if you neglect these warnings. They may pass off, but the chances are against you, and even then the poison is only latent in your system.

Do not, however, put your trust in the numerous so-called "mercurials" with which the market is flooded. Sarsaparilla bark is not a medicine, it is a poisoning, nothing more. The action of many of these concoctions comes from mineral poisons they contain, such as mercury, arsenic, strychnine, bismuth, iodide of potassium, and the like, and any druggist will tell you, if he tells you truly, that this is so.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa and other Kickapoo Indian medicines contain only the product of the field and forest, nature's own vegetable growth of roots, bark and herbs, and of necessity are free from all mineral poisons whatever, because the Indians have no knowledge of them, depending wholly upon nature's laboratory for their resources, and upon their skill, born of centuries of experience, in preparing them.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, made by the Indians from roots, bark and herbs of their own growth and curing, is obtainable of any druggist at one dollar per bottle, six bottles for five dollars.

FREE Send three two-cent stamps to pay postage, and we will mail you free a thrilling and interesting book of 173 pages entitled "Life and Scenes Among the Kickapoo Indians." Tells all about the Indians. Address HEALY & BUELOW, Distributing Agents, 211 Grand Ave., New Haven, Conn.

"I Itched Intensely!"
A TERRIBLE SKIN DISEASE
Of Eight Years' Standing
"PERFECTLY CURED"
BY SKODA'S OINTMENT AND DISCOVERY.

LEWISTON, ME.
GENTS—I wish to inform the suffering through skin that SKODA'S GERMAN OINTMENT and SKODA'S DISCOVERY will cure the worst skin disease to be found. This statement may seem strong, but I take a free statement of my own skin, will convince the most skeptical.

For some eight years I have had a terrible skin disease from which I have suffered much misery. I have tried Physicians to "cure" me, and about all the so-called "skin cures," but the result was failure.

My body was covered with white scales, I itched intensely, and when I would rub or scratch the scales of my skin, it would come off like scales, and as I was very poor, I was very much distressed.

My skin was so dry that my clothes, trousers, and shirt, would crack open as I tried to get them on. I was very much distressed, and I had to keep my body covered with scales.

I have now used a half dozen bottles of SKODA'S OINTMENT and about eight boxes of SKODA'S DISCOVERY. The result is that I am perfectly cured. My skin is now as smooth as a baby's, and I have gained about 25 pounds, and a good head of hair.
